And over me unroll on high
The splendid scenery of the sky.
Where, through a sapphire sea, the sun
Sails like a golden galleon.

Toward vernal cloudland in the west
I see the rainbow's bridge the best,
Whose steep Sierra far uplifts
Its craggy summits white with drifts.

Blow winds! and wait through all the rooms
The snowflakes of the cherry blooms!
Blow winds! and bend within my reach
The fiery blossoms of the peach!

O Life and Love! O happy throng
Of thoughts, whose only speech is song
O heart of man! canst thou not see Hither as the air and I are free

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

THE SPRING JOURNEY.

Oh green was the corn as I rode on my way,
And bright were the dew on the blossoms
of May,
And dark was the sycamore's shade to
behold,
And the oak's tender leaf was of emerald and gold.

The thrush from his holly, the lark
from his cloud,
Their claims of rapture sang jovial and
loud,
From the soft vernal sky to the soft
grassy ground,
There was beauty above me, beneath and around.

The mild-southern breeze brought
 A shower from the hill;
 And yet, though it left me all dripping
 And chill,
 I felt a new pleasure as onward
 I sped,
 To gaze where the rainbow gleamed
 Broad overhead.

Oh such be Life's journey, and such be
 Our skill,
 To lose in its blessings the sense of its
 Ill;
 Through sunshine and shower may our Progress be even,
 And our tears add a charm in the Prospect of heaven!

—Bishop Heber

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Teacher—Away back in 1776 Washington was the nation's champion
Jimmie—Aw! Whatchu giving us
The Washington team never won the championship!—Judge.

"I always make it a practice to let tomorrow take care of itself." "That's easy enough, but it's forgetting yesterday that causes trouble for so many of us."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"Brown volunteered to lend me some money." "Did you take it?" "No. That sort of friendship is too good to lose."—Detroit Free Press.

I see you are still in mourning though your husband has been dead three years." "Yes. In the first place
 I can never forget him, and then my fiancé likes me better in black."
 Filogenda Blaetter.

Patron—Waiter, what is the matter with this establishment? This table is burnt black. Waiter—Yes, sir.
 Mark of respect, sir. Our head cook died yesterday.—Tit Bits.

The Lonely Visitor (at a small hotel)
 very much on a branch line—I suppose visitors here are not very common? The Superior Waiter—Indeed they are, sir—painfully so—most

"Little Waide—Papa, what is public spiritedness? Mr. Grumpman—it is that which prompts a man to try and mind everybody else's business before minding his own.—Satire.

"I am surprised to hear that Dulwich has broken down," said Stubbs. "He used to have a splendid constitution." "Yes," said Widdowthorpe, "he began smending it."—Harper's Weekly.

Passerby—What's the fuss in the schoolyard, boy? The Boy—Why, the doctor has just been around examining us, an' one of the deficient boys knockin' the everlasting stuffin' out of a perfect kid."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"John, you promised at least a dozen of our friends some early vegetables." "I know, I did. I wonder if they were not compromise on a trip to the theater, instead. I don't see how I am going to divide four radishes among a dozen families."—Washington Herald.

"Here's the baseball page," glanced at it. "Aren't you going to read the account of the game?" "No, I can see by the absence of slang that our team must have put up a rotten exhibition."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE KALEIDOSCOPE

Hannah Dwight Greene, aunt of the late Lucky Baldwin, left a share of her estate to three hotel bellboys. She died in Springfield, Mass., and her will was offered for probate in Albany, N. Y.

H. G. Wells has come into public view in a new aspect—as the inventor of an educational war game. It is intended for students of strategy and tactics, and is said to be of an elaborate character. He is writing a book to accompany it.

The MSS. of Col. Archibald Grant's diplomatic history of the war of 1855 went down in the wreck of the Titanic. It is supposed that the MSS. of R. Stevenson's autobiography was also lost with its owner, young Mr. Widenor. Colonel Grant had no duplicate of his work.

Mass., started in the milk business nine years ago with one cow. Today she owns a herd of 50 Jerseys. Her daily milk route includes six small towns and more than 500 regular customers. Mrs. Carter personally supervises all the details of the business.

D. Mrs. Mary Kendall of Sioux Falls, D. who won the first drawing in the government land lottery, is said to have relinquished it to J. G. Renwick. She will take the $10,000 that it is said she received for it and support herself and her crippled husband at their old home in Rapid City.

Miss Alberta Chaire has made horseback journey from Sheridan Wyo., to Philadelphia—8,100 miles. She started on Sept. 10 and reached Pen city last Tuesday. She first rode down the coast to Los Angeles and beyond then she struck across the continent. She was in the saddle every day.

While preparing a lot of fish at Bedford, Mass., Manual Goulart of the city found a diamond ring in a last tautog. He took the ring to a jeweler who immediately offered him $50 for it, but Goulart declined the offer because he interpreted the jeweler's eagerness to pay $50 to mean that the ring was worth much more money.
